Exploring Your Faith ~ Expanding your Understanding

In Remembrance of Me: Reflections on Faith and Memory

Dates: April 25-27

Location: Glacier Presbyterian Center (The Camp!)

Leader: Rev. Tim Lanham

“Do this in remembrance of me.” -- Luke 22.19

Jonathan Sacks, chief rabbi of Great Britain, reflected on memory as a key force in shaping Jewish identity. “Jewish consciousness,” he observed, “is constructed in terms of memory not history. History is what happened to others. Memory is what happened to us.”

This power of memory as a force of Jewish and Christian consciousness will shape our time together. From basic questions (what does it mean to remember or not remember?) to significant texts (like Joshua’s valediction in Joshua 24), which transport the readers and hearers to times and places long ago, we explore the power of memory for the people of God. How does memory define and shape our identity? What does Scripture have to say about the relationship between the past and the future? How can looking back at what was propel us in faith toward an uncertain tomorrow?

These questions and many others will shape our time together as we explore this compelling subject and the implications remembering can have (for good and ill) for the people of God trying to find their way through the wilderness of the 21st Century.
